Personnel protection

Action to protect life

- VIP personal protection
- Travel advice and security
- Life support services
- Convoy escort teams
- Mobile and static security teams

Personnel protection

Protecting your people is vital, as your number one priority will always be to safeguard human life. Alongside this, if your business or organisation is to function efficiently in medium to high-risk or remote areas of the world, good assessment of threats and taking action to protect lives allows you not only to fulfil your corporate responsibility to your staff but also to ensure business continuity. Hawki offers personnel protection by highly trained teams. We provide advice and training to you and your staff.

VIP close protection

We have a proven track record in providing close protection to clients ranging from diplomatic personnel and senior executives to media teams, high net worth individuals and their families. Our operatives are well-briefed in protocol and have all necessary skills, tactics and experience for VIP protection in both benign and hostile environments.

Convoy escort teams

We provide teams to escort your people to and from work, protect them in their place of work and ensure the security of business assets moving through high threat environments.

Travel security

Travel always carries inherent risks, so proper assessment and adequate planning is essential to protect life, property and your supply chain. We provide detailed plans to protect staff, expatriates and families; we will often accompany them in a time of crisis.

Life support service provision

This is everything you need to allow you to operate overseas in safety. It includes provision of food, accommodation, equipment and medical supplies as well as transport, manpower, communications and logistics. We provide detailed bespoke packages.

COMPANY PROFILE

Hawki is a team of specialists dedicated to preventing and reducing security risks for our clients. Our main areas of business are:

- Asset protection
- Personnel protection
- Training
- Investigations
- Cyber security

Our clients range from private individuals to multinational corporations, governments, the public sector and supranational organisations. Our highly experienced team operates globally in remote, medium, high risk and post-conflict areas. We analyse clients' needs in depth and create bespoke packages, from a simple travel plan to complex security solutions.

Wherever you are, you can trust us. While we protect your assets and personnel, you can concentrate on your core business.
